Reception For Irish Delegates To Be Held Tonight

Arrangements have been completed for the reception to Hon. Austin Stack and James J. O'Kelly, official delegates of the Irish Republican party to the United States, and Rev. Michael J. O'Flanagan, vice-president of the Sinn Fein political organization, who will speak at the Casino tonight.

Rev. Michael O'Flanagan is well known in Bridgeport from his previous appearance here, when he made an excellent impression as a speaker. The Hon. Austin Stack is eldest son of the late William Moore Stack, a Fenian leader who was sentenced to be hanged, drawn and quartered in 1867. His grandfather was William Moore Stack, one of the 1849 leaders. After the rebellion of 1848 Austin Stack was sentenced to penal servitude and on being released in the general amnesty was again imprisoned in 1917 and 1918. On a sensational escape from prison in 1919 he was elected a member of the cabinet of the Dail Eireann and deputy chief of staff of the Irish Republican army. He was prominent in Gaelic athletic circles in County Kerry, being captain of the famous John Mitchell football club.

The Hon. James J. O'Kelly, president of the Gaelic League, was imprisoned in 1918, deported in 1917, released at the time of the general amnesty, and imprisoned again in 1921. In addition to his duties as speaker of the Dail Eireann, he has attained national prominence as editor of a paper in Dublin and has gained wide reputation as a Gaelic scholar and writer under the name of "Seol". Many of his brilliant articles on current events have been circulated in the United States, and his recent book, "Gaelic Elements of Her Early Story," is one of the most erudite works on Ireland ever written.

The meeting tonight will open promptly at 7:30 at the Casino.

SENATORIAL RACE IN NEBRASKA TO BE TORRID ONE

Senator Gilbert Hitchcock (top) and R. B. Howell, one of the Republican contestants.

Gilbert Hitchcock, Democratic senator, faces a bitter contest for re-election as his term draws to a close. The Nebraska senatorial primaries will be held July 18. It is believed the Democrats will not gain forward any opposition to Hitchcock's nomination. The Republicans already have two candidates in the field for the G. O. P. nomination. They are R. B. Howell and A. W. Jeffries, both of Omaha. Jeffries is now a representative; Howell is Republican national committeeman.

NEW CURE FOR BALDNESS

London, April 4.—How baldness was cured by doses of thyroid gland is described in the Lancet by Dr. H. W. Barber, a famous hospital skin surgeon.

A Dutch girl who had suffered from almost complete baldness for several years was given ten grains of thyroid gland daily for several weeks. As a result hair is now growing freely over the whole of her scalp.

Council Forbids

Auditor To Pay Money To Schools

Matter of Dental Clinic Again the Center of Attention—Alderman Veness Only Member of Board Favoring Retention of Clinic by Board of Education.

Passage of a resolution restraining the city auditor from paying out to the Board of Education any part of the $35,250 which was appropriated for dental clinic expenses by the Board of Appointments, and the establishment of a bi-partisan municipal garage commission were the most important matters of business transacted by the Common Council last night.

The Dental Clinic ordinance, which was adopted by a vote of 23 to 1, President Alfred Veness being the only alderman to vote against the measure, takes the control of the clinic entirely out of the hands of the School Board and gives the management of the department to the Board of Health. As predicted a short time ago, the Council regarded the $35,250 as an unappropriated revenue, and no time has been lost in providing teeth for the ordinance passed a few weeks ago.

Quickly Adopted.

Last night's measure was introduced through the ordinance committee and was quickly adopted despite the protests of Alderman Veness, after a five-minute recess for consideration.

Under the provisions of the resolution providing for a bi-partisan municipal garage commission, Mayor Atwater is given power to appoint the four members of the board. The commission will consist of two Democrats and two Republicans, two members to be appointed annually on April 1. The mayor is also empowered to name a foreman, who shall be an experienced automobile mechanic.

The salary for his position will be $1,800 a year. The commission has the power of appointing a clerk for the garage, and also of hiring all operating employees. Monthly reports are to be submitted to the commission, and all purchasing by the garage must be done through the Board of Contract and Supply.

Patrick J. Kerley Says Republicans Want Square Deal

Hon. Patrick J. Kerley, attorney-at-law of Dundalk, Ireland, who is now in Bridgeport, made arrangements for the reception at the Casino tonight to the Irish Republican delegates, issued the following statement today:

"During the recent war in Ireland, British propaganda and a rigid British censorship combined to suppress the truth and disseminate falsehoods as to the real state of affairs in Ireland. During that tragic period—and similarly since the signing of the recent treaty in London—these same elements have operated to hide from the world the true state of feeling in Ireland regarding the grave question as to whether Ireland shall remain her existing status as a republic, or become a British colony."

"The spectacle of Ireland as a British colony is a fiction, a living lie in the eyes of the world, and an international anomaly. The Irish nation is an ancient parent state, having civilization and national institutions far earlier than those of England. Not only has Ireland never been colonized from England as a mother land, like her other dominions, but Ireland has throughout all the centuries either resisted or absorbed every attempted colonization."

"The delegates come to America at this time in order to lay the true state of affairs before the bar of American public opinion and they come under precisely similar circumstances to those under which Benjamin Franklin came to Ireland on two occasions, the first being that of George Washington, at a period when Britain was making tempting offers to Washington and his associates as she was making overtures to Ireland. Ireland nobly assisted Franklin when they held out for complete independence. The Irish parliament of that time recognized the republic of America, and Lord Cornwallis himself declared that all Ireland was on the side of the revolting colonies."

"The Republican delegates appeal to the great American principle of the square deal, and ask nothing more than a fair and impartial hearing from the American public as a set off to the propaganda which is being now used in an attempt to drug and chloroform public opinion."

"The Republican delegates will explain to their audiences in this country the present state of public feeling in Ireland, the condition of the register of voters' list, and will disclose that it is impossible at the present time to secure a full, complete and impartial plebiscite in Ireland as owing to the war those who have fought and won the war in Ireland have no votes on the register. In addition they will explain the attitude of the great Sinn Fein political organization and the attitude of the Irish Republican army towards the attempt to subvert and destroy the republic."

Secretary Healey Plans Radio For Benefit of Farmers

Buzz, Buzz, Buzz.

"A. E. Calling X.Y.Z. A.B.C. calling X.Y.Z."

"Hello, Hiram Higgins. Hello, Hiram Higgins. State Board of Agriculture, Secretary Leonard H. Healey phoning. Shipment new seed corn arrived today, sell at 23. How much? Can you send 500 pounds of seed corn to the young calf. Hall storm Jonesville, heavy crop damage. How's red heifer that had cowpox? Try hot mash, apply three times day. Have good prices on early squash."

"All right. Clear phones for full market report, etc., etc., etc."

This is a sample of conversation that soon may be flying back and forth between Hartford and the farmers in the vicinity of Bridgeport. If the plan of Secretary Healey is adopted, a radio telephone sending and receiving outfit will be installed in the quarters of the state board of agriculture in Hartford and daily market and farm reports sent to every farmer in the state.

Secretary Healey believes his plan practicable as it will enable him to reach the farming communities with daily instead of the present tri-weekly market reports. He is endeavoring to impress the benefits of his plan upon the farmers, and has received 2,000 letters of inquiry to be sent broadcast to the Connecticut farmers asking opinions of the plan, and asking for subscribers for radio phones. He estimates that the individual phones will cost about $50 each.

Judge Landis' Best Vacation

Chicago, April 4.—Kenesaw M. Landis, baseball commissioner, was back in Chicago today from what he described as "the best vacation of my life." He has been making a tour of the spring training camps of the major league baseball teams.

The commissioner declared that he had never enjoyed pleasures more than during the last few weeks which he spent picking oranges and star baseball players and accumulating a coat of tan.

"There is more enthusiasm than ever for baseball," Commissioner Landis declared.

This novel use for salad came when an oven of a gas stove exploded when Mrs. Garrettsen sought to light it. Plunging her face into the salad, the woman rubbed it over her face. According to her physician, the fact that Mrs. Garrettsen used the salad for this unusual purpose was all that saved her face from disfigurement.

Park City Knights Planning Musical Revue And Dance

At a recent meeting of the Knights of Columbus, Grand Knight Hugh J. Lavery appointed a General Committee to make arrangements for an annual event of the K. of C. that is looked forward to by its many members and the people of Bridgeport at large, as well as surrounding towns.

The musical show and dance given by the K. of C. boys at the Casino last year will be remembered by everyone as being one of the cleverest and most successful musical events ever staged in Bridgeport. The show was called upon to play for St. Augustine's church of this city, St. Thomas' church of Fairfield and a trip was finally made to Allington Hospital to play for the wounded soldiers confined in that institution.

Different arrangements are being planned for the event this year and it will be given in the form of a Musical Revue under the direction of Joe Whelan, who has capably handled the coaching of the Minstrel Show last year.

The affair this year is set for the middle of next month, the exact date and place to be announced later. It is requested that all those who participated in the show last year and any other members of the K. of C. desiring to take part this year attend the first rehearsal at the club rooms Thursday evening, April 6, at 8 o'clock.

Soviet Delegates Conferring With German Officials

Berlin, April 4.—(By A. P.)—The Russian Soviet delegates to the Geneva conference conferred at length yesterday with German government officials with the object of arriving at an agreement on a common line of action to be followed at Geneva.

Despite the current impression that the Russians are in Germany only in an unofficial capacity while on their way to Italy, they are showing alacrity in keeping the official and social appointments made for them.

Yesterday they were entertained at luncheon by Dr. Walter Rathenau, German foreign minister, and among those attending were many German industrial, financial and political leaders as well as high government officials.

Late Dr. Northrup Well Known Here

Minneapolis, Minn., April 4.—Dr. Cyrus R. Northrup, president emeritus of the University of Minnesota, died from heart disease today at the age of 83.

Dr. Northrup was sitting in an easy chair at his home when he died. He had been feeling well all day, except for a slight attack of indigestion, soon after lunch, until the fatal seizure ten minutes before the end came.

Dr. Northrup is very well known and remembered by the older residents of Bridgeport, having been at one time one of the most prominent lawyers, newspapermen and politicians in Connecticut.

He was born in Ridgefield on Sept. 30, 1834, and while in his youth entered Yale University, graduating with the class of 1857. Two years later, he graduated from the Yale Law School.

Attorney Northrup took up the practice of law in New York, and became clerk of the House of Representatives in 1861 and clerk of the State Senate in 1862. One year later, he was elected to the office of New Haven Daily Palladium, and from 1863 until 1884 he was professor of rhetoric and English literature at Yale.

Rickard Again Summoned By District Attorney

New York, April 4.—George L. (Tex) Rickard, sports promoter, who several days ago was acquitted of a charge of having assaulted a fifteen year old girl, today was summoned by the district attorney's office to give further information in connection with his declaration that agents of the Children's Society had attempted to blackmail him.

William Fields, said to have been employed by Rickard at an apartment in the district attorney's office yesterday in an effort to obtain corroborative evidence in support of Rickard's charges. Chief Assistant District Attorney Peckora said that he had not carried the investigation far enough to determine whether the case should be presented to the grand jury.

One of the witnesses examined was Charles E. Griffin, proprietor of the saloon where Rickard said the agents attempted to blackmail him.

Says McAdoo Has Just Pride In R. R. Achievement

Washington, April 4.—Figures showing that the railroads of the country moved only two percent more traffic in 1921 than in 1917 were cited by Daniel Willard, President of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company, before the senate Interstate Commerce Committee today to refute the recent testimony of William G. McAdoo, former director general of railroads to the effect that the railroads had broken down in the latter year before placed under government control. He appeared at a resumption of the committee's investigation into the general railroad situation.

Former Director General McAdoo has pointed with pride and justifiably so," he continued, "to the record of accomplishments of the railroads under his direction during 1918, but the figures show that the same railroads that moved 430,000,000,000 ton miles in 1917, moved only 440,000,000,000 ton miles in 1921, or about two percent more. I submit that a difference in accomplishment of only two percent between the two periods is hardly sufficient to indicate a breakdown in the one year and a satisfactory accomplishment in the other."

Despite the "congestion and confusion" which naturally followed the country's entrance into the war, he said, the railroads showed an effective capacity for cooperation under their executives' railroad war board in 1917, solving many difficult transportation problems, he said, and handling a volume of traffic 127,000,000,000 ton miles greater than that handled two years before.

Chase Piano Company In Big Combine

Norwalk, Ohio, April 4.—The A. B. Chase Piano Company of Norwalk has been consolidated with the Emerson Piano Company of Boston and the Norwalk and Sons Company of New York in a million dollar concern incorporated under the laws of New York to be known as the United Piano Company. It is announced here.

Thomas Hargraves Drowned At Sea

New London, Conn., April 4.—The coast guard cutter Pequot, returning to this port from a trip to New York, reported that a member of her crew, Thomas Hargraves of Norwich, was drowned last Wednesday. The cutter made an unusual stop at Nepeague Harbor, on the Long Island shore, and in approaching the wharf it was seen that her surf boat would strike. Hargraves was engaged in hauling this boat aboard when he fell overboard and was dragged down by the heavy hip rubber boots he was wearing. A boat was immediately launched and an all day search instituted, but his body was not recovered.

Hargraves was 22 years old, unmarried, and left parents, a brother and a sister who reside on a rural route beyond Norwich. He was rated as a seaman second class and had been on the Pequot since entering the service last July.
